When Indigo decided to relocate, we evaluated several site alternatives. In deciding to work with Tom Songer, and his team at Songer Properties, we found a trusted partner that was able to provide valuable insight, and highly professional management in the construction of a state-of-the-art laboratory facility. Tom worked closely with our scientific team to ensure that attention to detail was delivered in the project. The extensive built out was completed on time. Now that we have been in the new facility at Kalman Centre at 3006 Research Drive for over a year, we have come to appreciate the quality of work preformed by Songer Property and the positive effect it has had on our business.
